A Note from Fr. Matthew

Seeing "something new"

A particular painting you see in a gallery or museum makes you stop. The scene moves you; the colors lift your spirits. The whole work makes you think, opens your heart and mind to things you had forgotten or yearn for. Maybe it leads you to a new resolve to restore or mend something broken in your life. You return to the gallery whenever you can to spend a few minutes with the painting — and every time you look at it, you see something new.

During a hike through the woods or along a mountain trail, a morning jog along the beach, or an evening stroll through your neighborhood, you become aware of God's handiwork in your midst. It may be a crystal-clear mountain stream, the magical flight of a falcon, a beautiful sunset that takes your breath away. In this moment, you feel a sense of humility — and gratitude that you are a small part of this wonder. This beautiful earth opens your eyes to all that has blessed your life.

You never forget the moment you first hold your newborn or feed your child — or change the first what will be a seemingly endless pile of diapers. You never imagined loving another human being like this child; with the birth of your daughter or son, the priorities and dreams of your life change dramatically. You're scared to death — and you could not be happier. This child opens your eyes to a love you never dreamed capable of.

The poet and translator John Ciardi wrote that "we are what we do with our attention." In today's reading from Mark's Gospel, a blind man asks Jesus to see. Jesus responds not by mixing mud or touching the man's eyes or looking to heaven in prayer; Jesus says, basically, Pay attention. Look with the eyes of the faith you already possess. The man receives his sight — but Jesus also affirms the vision that Bartimaeus already possessed by faith: to realize God's compassion in his midst, to see the possibilities for transforming hope and re-creating love to heal the brokenness in his life, to comprehend God's call to be the means for justice and reconciliation for others. Jesus opens our "eyes," as well, enabling us to look at our lives and world with the eyes of faith: to realize the opportunities to bring life and light, healing and peace along our way to the dwelling place of God. Christ comes to restore our "sight" to see God's sacred presence in our lives, to heal us of our blindness to the sins of selfishness and hatred we too easily rationalize away and see, instead, our world with a grateful eye.

Have a great week and I'll see you in church. Fr. Matthew

Stewardship: "And to love him with all your heart, with all your understanding, with all your strength, and to love your neighbor as yourself is worth more than all the burnt offerings and sacrifices." MARK 12:33

Of all the gifts that God gives us, the one He wants the most is our heart. He wants us to share out of our love for Him, not out of obligation. Using our talent in parish ministry and contributing money to support our parish mission is important, but it's more important to spend time in prayer with God daily and discern how He is calling us to be generous with all of our gifts. Not just the visible ones, but the invisible ones like love mercy and forgiveness.

HOLY FAMILY PARISH: Monthly St. Philomena and First Saturday Devotions of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Mass will be Saturday, November 6, 2021 from 8:45-10:45 am. Father Donald Feicht will be the Celebrant. 216 Wooster Street NE, Navarre. Questions call 330-879-5900.
